

Additional Corrections Education Department Services

Learning Labs – These valuable labs assist students that need addition instruction. Students often receive one-on-one assistance for their educational needs.

Special Education Services and Assessments – Instructors / Diagnosticians work with and test students to assess and assist with learning disabilities.

Computer Labs – Computer access, education software and computer experience are available to students. Computers are a valuable resource for preparing for the computerized GED test, and a necessary skill for release.

Release Classes – Computer labs are available to create resumes, cover letters and release plans. An emphasis is placed on the importance of education for self-improvement and better career opportunities.

College Labs – Computer labs are available to research careers, plan for college, research college catalogs and transcript requests. Word processing is available for course assignments. College placement exams are available to establish college competencies.

College Exam Proctoring – Testing services are available for distance education programs and State Electrical and Plumbers licensing.
